

iCAN Dress Code

We are so excited to see everyone at our 10th annual Summit presented by Jumo Health! The Summit is a time of learning, growth, connections, and fun! Get ready for a conference like no other with fun, friends, and awesome learning experiences in healthcare, advocacy, research, and STEAM!

The iCAN Research & Advocacy Summit offers our youth members an invaluable opportunity to learn from each other and network with leading professionals in healthcare and industry from around the globe. This unique gathering not only fosters connections but also provides a platform for the scientific community to directly engage with children and parents, showcasing the significant influence of children on research, medicine, and innovation. As a professional conference, attendees will have the chance to network with peers and industry experts in healthcare. While the dress code is "Respectful Casual," iCAN apparel is encouraged, reflecting our commitment to empowerment and collaboration.

Dress Code Guidelines:

What Not to Wear:

1. Ripped clothing
2. Clothing with profanity, suggestive language/graphics
3. Tops or bottoms that don't cover the midriff and back
4. Shorts, skirts, and dresses that are too short

What to Wear:

1. iCAN Gear
2. Clothing that shows respect for all cultures
3. Comfortable clothing and footwear suitable for hot weather
4. Dressier outfits for special events and presentations

Please note that all attendees must adhere to venue dress codes, such as hospitals and research labs in which protective gear must be worn and footwear such as flip flops are strictly prohibited. Please note that Local KIDS Chapters may have additional dress code guidelines that must be followed. Religious buildings in Italy and other parts of Europe require shoulders and knees to be covered! A scarf or shirt is recommended to cover your shoulders in case of attendance.
