COLOR YOUR DINOSAUR!

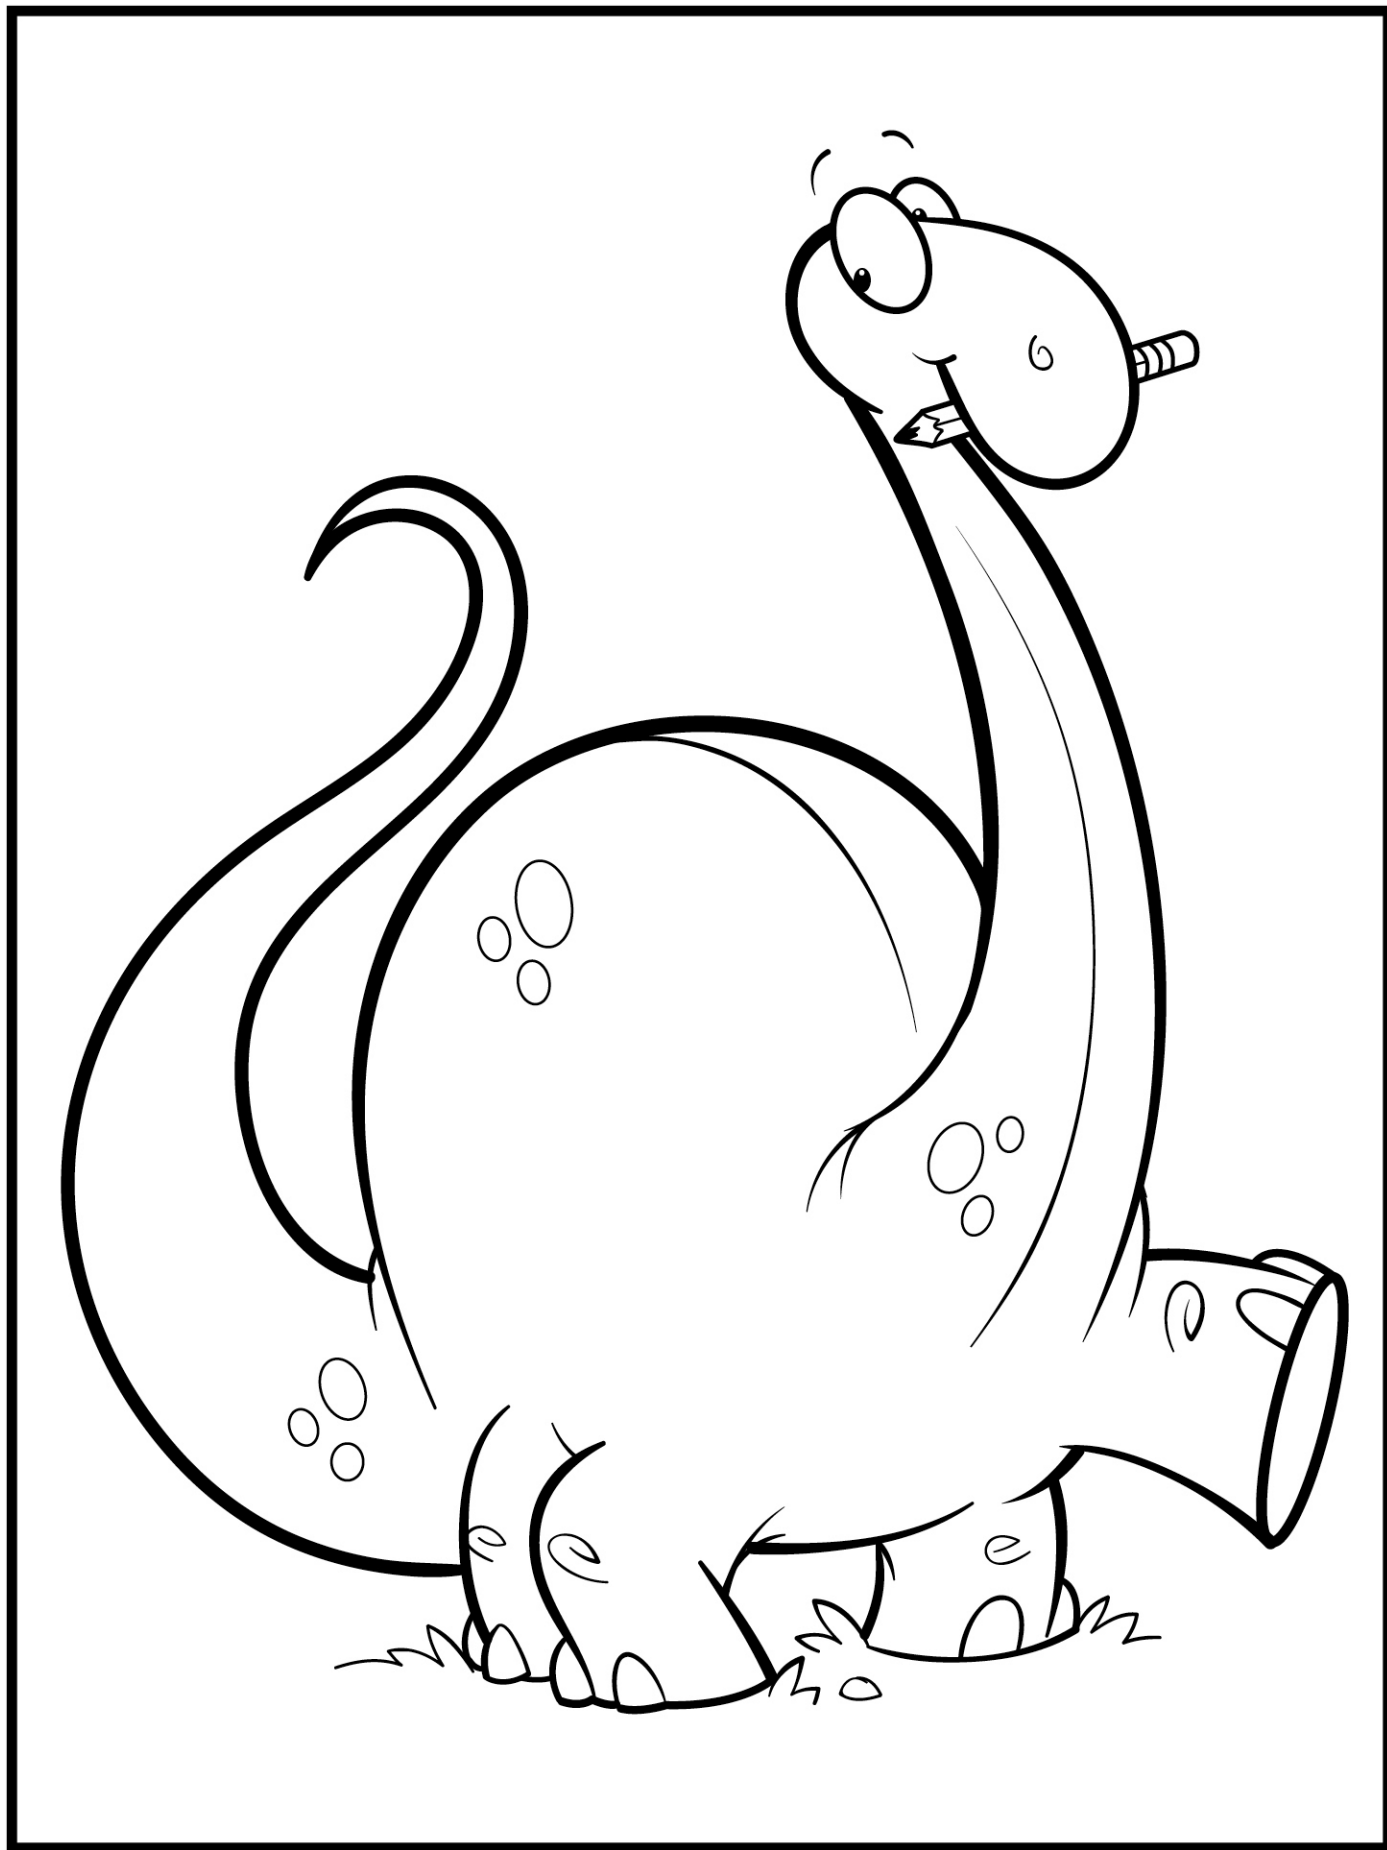

Then add your own background. Is he in a city? Or is he out in the country, surrounded by raging volcanoes? It's all up to you. You can put him anywhere you want to!

Draw a Little Chicken!

Sketch each line and shape lightly with a pencil. That will make it easier to erase if you need to.

Each new step will be black. The parts you have already drawn will appear in gray so that the new steps will be easy to see.

- 1. Begin by drawing a bean shape for the body.

- 2. Add curved lines to create an eyebrow, beak and wing. Draw an oval for the eye.

- 3. Use curved lines to make a smile and finish the wing. Make circles for the eyeball.

- 4. Draw straight lines for legs and to begin the tail.

- 5. Add curved lines to finish the tail. Use straight lines for feet.

- 6. Erase the extra lines you do not need and you're done!

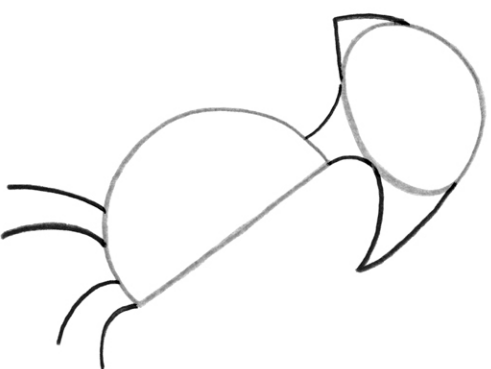

See how easy it is? You just drew a cartoon chicken! You can trace the lines now to make them bolder, then add color and bring your baby chick to life!

Remember that your art does not have to look exactly like mine. Feel free to experiment with all sorts of lines and shapes to make your creation uniquely your own. You can draw a bigger beak, a funnier body or crazy long legs. The sky is the limit! The only rule is to have FUN!

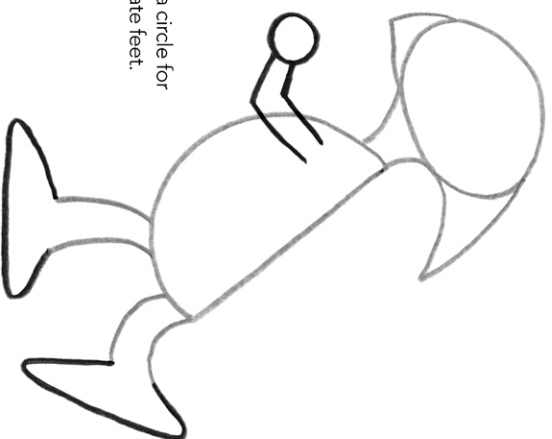

awesome alien

1 Draw an oval for your alien's head. Use a semi-circle for its body.

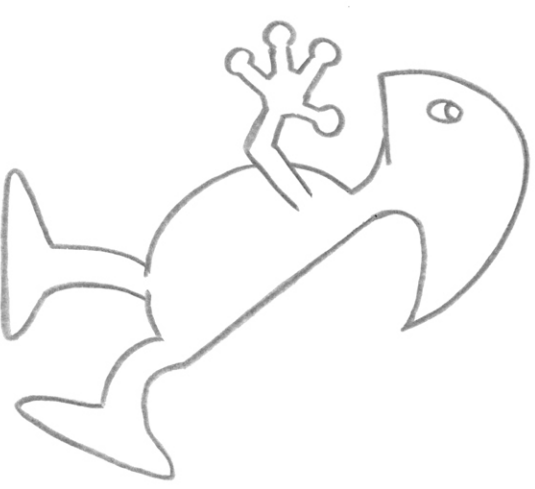

2 Sketch curved lines on each side of the head. Add curved lines for a neck and legs.

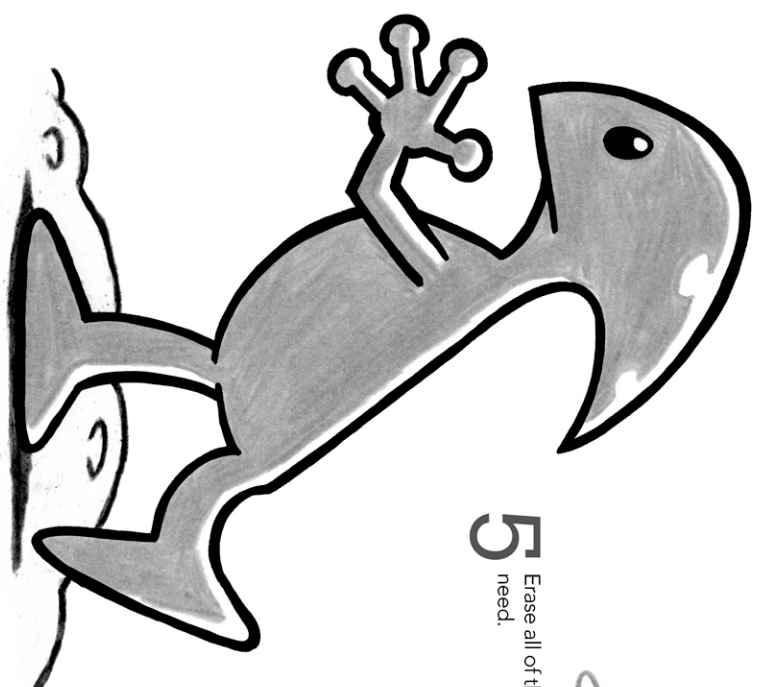

3 Use straight lines for the arm, and a circle for the hand. Draw curved lines to create feet.

4 Sketch an oval with a circle inside it for the eye. Use straight lines for the fingers. Draw small circles on the end of each finger.

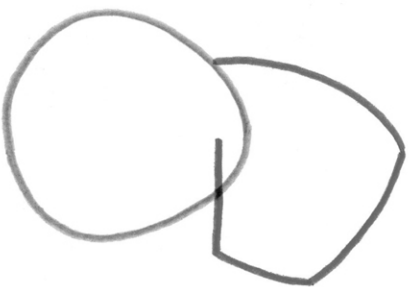

5 Erase all of the overlapping lines you do not need.

6 Trace your sketch with a bold outline. Add color, and your alien is complete!

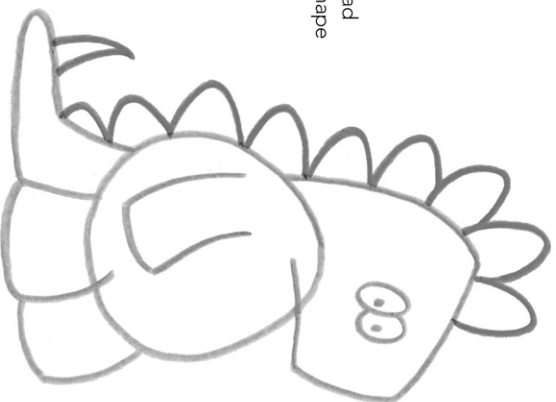

lonely lizard

1 Draw a large oval for your lizard's body. Add curved lines above it to create the head.

2 Draw ovals with dots or small circles inside them for eyes. Sketch curved lines to add an arm, legs and a tail.

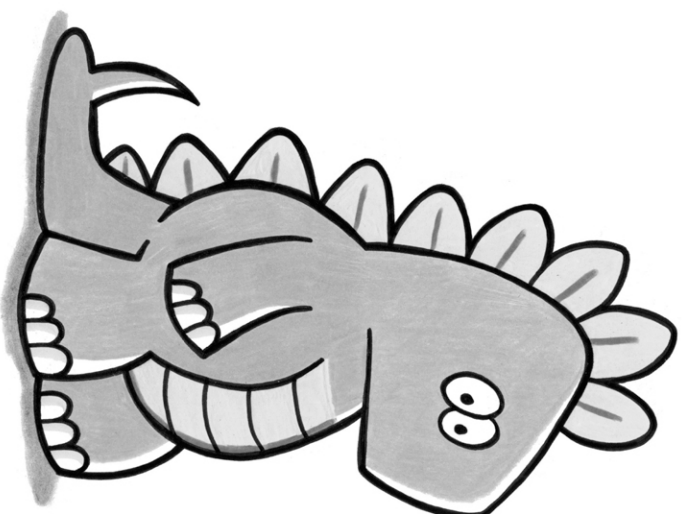

3 Draw curved lines on the head and the back. Add a wave shape on the tail for a spike.

4 Use curved lines for the toenails. Draw a curved line on the body and add straight lines to give him a segmented chest.

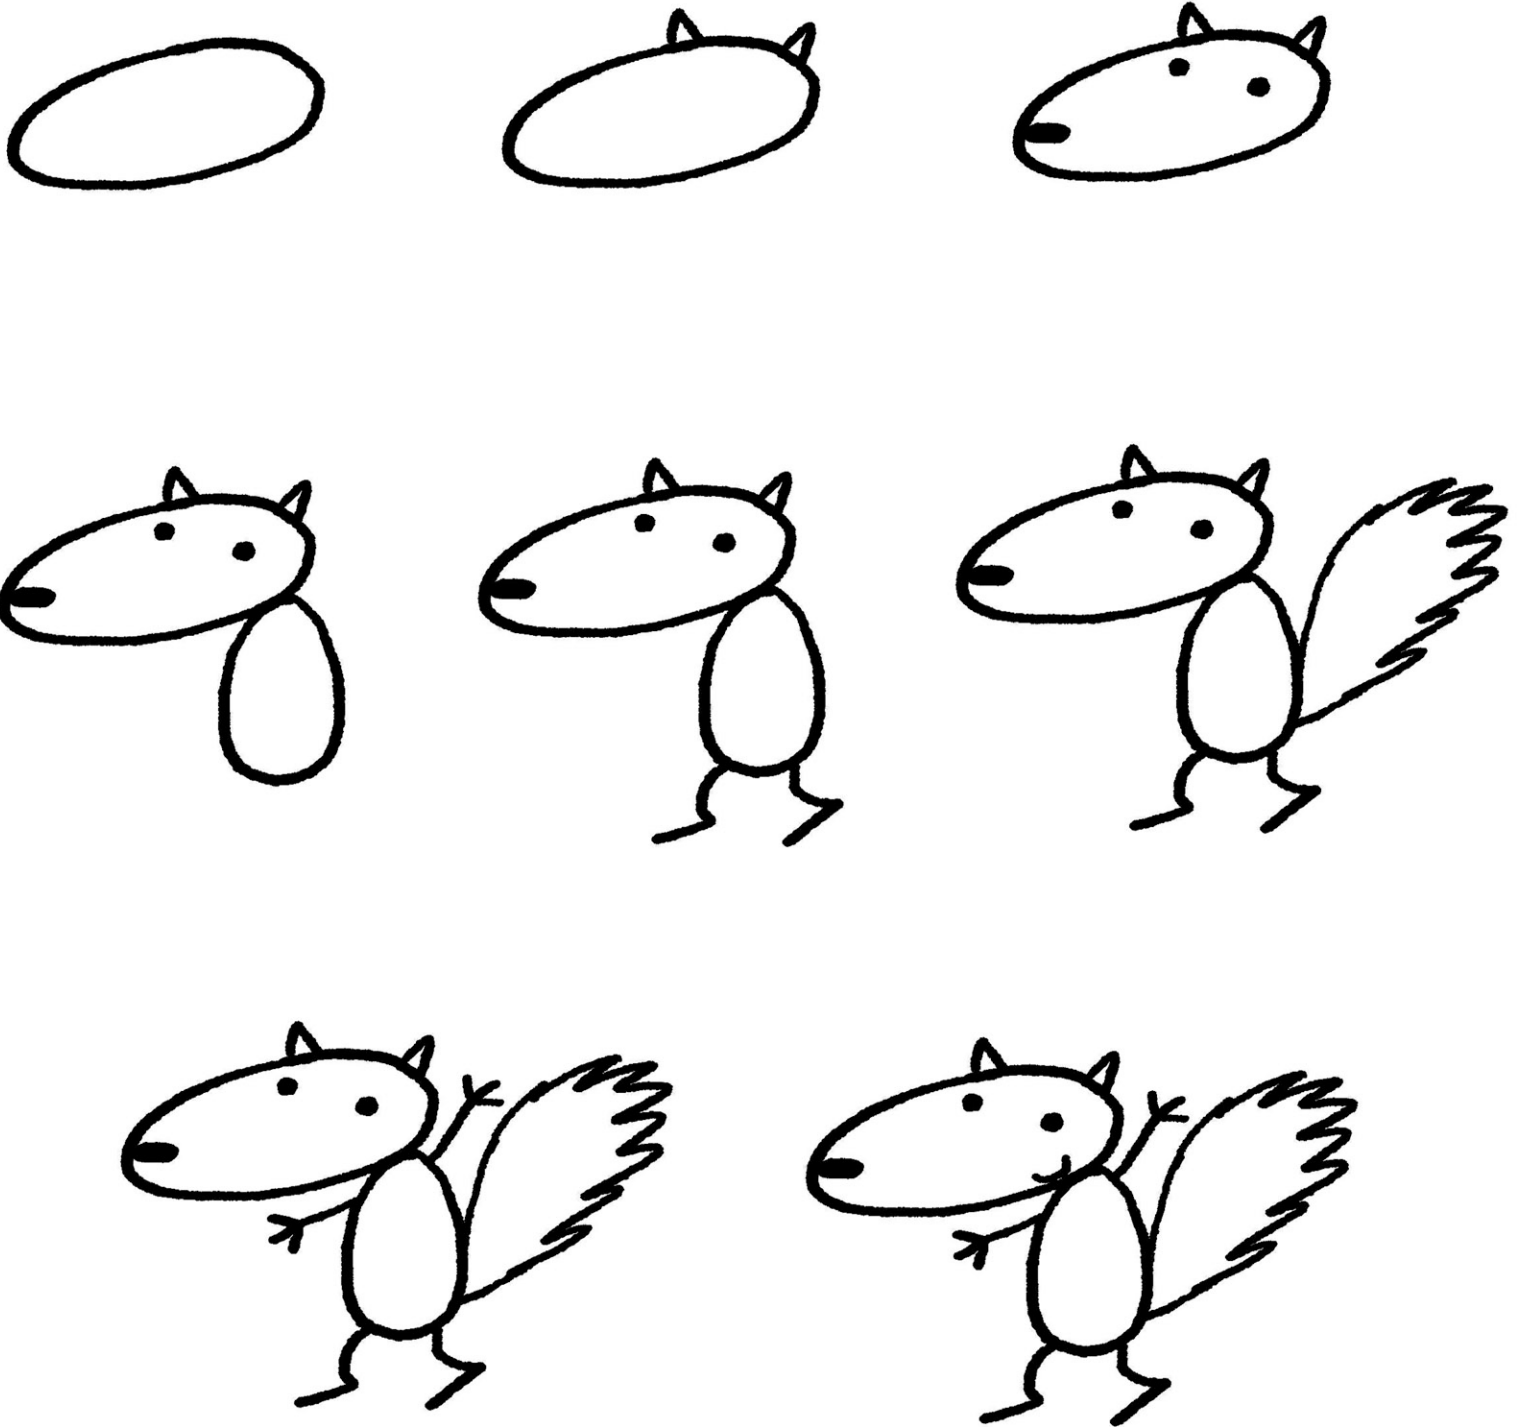

5 Erase all of the extra overlapping lines.

6 Add a bold outline, then color your lonely lizard. Perhaps you could draw a second lizard to hang out with him so he won't be so lonely.
