A Brave Leader

On the first day of school, Mary's teacher announced that she was going to assign a class leader. Mary was so excited and really wanted to be picked. She wanted to be President one day and this would be a great first step. Mary's teacher asked everyone who wanted to be picked, stand in front of the class and explain what a leader meant to them. Mary got really nervous because she was scared of public speaking. Mary decided to be brave and shot up her hand to volunteer to go first. She explained that a leader was someone that was kind and positive. She said that she would work hard everyday to motivate and inspire her classmates to be the best they could be. She would be someone that would always influence everyone around her to respect others. She explained that she had little brothers and sisters that looked up to her and wanted to be a good role model for them and she would do the same for all her classmates. She said she would always be a helping hand and friend that they all could talk to. She ended with a smile and said she would try and use her influence to get pizza parties for the class once a month. The class cheered and Mary shined with pride that she had the courage to stand up and talk to the class.
